

RECEPTION TO WAR MUSICIANS

Emma Ramsey Morris Entertains Association to Which Her Father Belonged.

FINE PROGRAM IS GIVEN
LIGHT REFRESHMENTS SERVED
AND ENJOYABLE TIME IS HAD.

One of the prettiest private receptions of G. A. R. week was that given by Mrs. Emma Ramsey Morris, the local singer, to the National Association of War Musicians at her home at 127 South Second West street, yesterday afternoon.

The musicians marched to the home of their hostess and serenaded her from the front lawn. After several excellent band selections they were invited into the house, where Mrs. Morris in turn sang for the forty men who comprised the corps. Thus in alternating program hostess and guests entertained each other. Light refreshments were served in the open air and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Prominent among the guests was Major George W. Freidley, who is said to be the most accomplished drummer in the United States, if not in the world. He plays five drums in unison and can produce sounds and imitations on the snare that no other has ever accomplished. He has played in the drum corps of the National Association of Civil War Musicians for many years. At yesterday's reception Major Freidley gave interesting exhibitions of his drumming skill.

This afternoon these aged musicians will have a special sight-seeing car at their disposal by the courtesy of Manager Joseph Wells of the Utah Light & Railway company. As the guests of J. J. McClellan and Fred C. Graham of the music committee, they will tour the city and visit Fort Douglas, playing en route and holding an informal concert at the fort. The musicians will leave the city Sunday morning, according to present plans.

HELPED HUSBAND AS BLACKSMITH

Linnie Neilson's Testimony in Suit for Divorce Doesn't Appeal to Court.

DECREE ASKED IS REFUSED
MIDDLE-AGED COUPLE MUST WORRY ALONG AS BEFORE.

A contention by Linnie Neilson, in a suit for divorce filed against Joseph S. Neilson, that she has had to work for a living, did not appear to Judge T. D. Lewis, sitting in the district court Friday, to be sufficient grounds for the granting of a divorce, and the court refused to grant the decree. The counsel for Mrs. Neilson could not shake the decision, after the court had heard the evidence, and if further relief is desired the case may have to be taken higher.

Neilson and his wife are of middle age and were married in this city March 13, 1907. They have no children. Mrs. Neilson said her husband had about $2,000 when they married and he put part of this sum into a blacksmith shop. Mrs. Neilson said that she had to help in the shop. Business fell away and the husband, according to her testimony, purchased a rooming house at West Fourth South street. Mrs. Neilson said she made the money by taking boarders, and says she had to turn what money she had, outside of expenses, over to Neilson, who put it in the bank to his credit. She cleared from $30 to $50 a month for the last year or more.

The couple separated July 9. With her request for a divorce Mrs. Neilson asked $1,000 as permanent alimony and attorney's fees and costs. Testimony was offered by Mrs. Neilson and Mrs. Fannie D. Matthews, one of her witnesses, after the hearing of which the court announced that the grounds did not appear sufficient to warrant a divorce.

BUSINESS GOOD IN ALL LINES

Settlement of Tariff Rates Leads to Betterment of Conditions.

New York, Aug. 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Many branches of business affected by the new tariff law are rapidly adjusting themselves to the amended schedules and the ending of the period of uncertainty as to the rates of duty to be imposed already has had the effect of stimulating trade. Reports from all the important cities, all the leading trades, are most encouraging.

In the iron and steel trade each week serves to bring an increased volume of business and labor is in greater request. Conditions in the steel rail division steadily improve, the railroads buying with increased freedom. Liberal orders are received for cars.

Reports of large orders for cotton goods for shipment to the Philippines are confirmed. The footwear market continues in a waiting position, but the adjustment of the tariff schedules will lead to more activity, as some buyers have not supplied their full wants. The leather market is somewhat unsettled, on account of the lower prices being made by some tanners on sole, while an accumulation affects the lower grades of side upper leather.

TOWN EXPOSED TO SMALLPOX

Entire Population of Payson Is Threatened With Epidemic of Disease.

VACCINATION IS OPPOSED
STATE BOARD OF HEALTH SENDS INSPECTOR TO AFFLICTED CITY.

Dr. T. B. Beatty of the state board of health has received a communication from Payson, Utah, stating that the entire town has been exposed to smallpox. Many cases, it is said, have existed for days without any care or any quarantine regulations. The cases were first diagnosed by the attending physicians as chicken pox, which is accountable for the quick spread of the disease.

Following the announcement that the cases were not chicken pox, but smallpox, an order was issued that all people should be vaccinated. This order the inhabitants of the town refused to obey, stating that they would not be vaccinated under any conditions. The board sent an inspector to the town, and he has finally succeeded in getting a fair number of the population vaccinated. If the spread of the disease continues through the negligence of the inhabitants of the town, the entire town will be placed under quarantine.

SONG OF THE MYSTIC.

(Rev. Abram J. Ryan.)
I walk down the Valley of Silence,
Down the dim, voiceless valley—alone!
And I hear not the fall of a footstep
Around me, save God's and my own;
And the hush of my heart is as holy
As hovers where angels have flown!

Long ago I was weary of voices
Whose music my heart could not win;
Long ago I was weary of noises
That fretted my soul with their din;
Long ago I was weary of faces
Where I met but the human—and sin.

I walked in the world with the worldly;
I craved what the world had to give;
And said: "In the world each ideal
That shines like a star in life's way,
Is wrecked on the rocks of the selfish,
And sleeps like a dream in a grave."

And still did I pine for the Perfect,
And still found the False with the True;
I sought 'mid the human for heaven,
But caught a mere glimpse of its blue,
And I wept when the clouds of the mortal
Veiled even that glimpse from my view.

And I toiled on, heart-tired of the human;
And I moaned 'mid the mazes of men;
Till I knelt, long ago, at an altar,
And I heard a voice call me—since then
I walk down the Valley of Silence
That lies far beyond mortal ken.

Do you ask what I found in the valley?
"The myrrour place with the divine,
And I fell at the feet of the holy,
And above me a voice said: "Be mine."
And there rose from the depths of my spirit
An echo: "My heart shall be thine."

Do you ask how I live in the valley?
I weep—and I dream—and I pray;
But my tears are as sweet as the dew-drops
That fall on the roses in May;
And my prayer, like perfume from censers,
Ascendeth to God night and day.

In the hush of the Valley of Silence
I dream all the songs that I sing;
And the music floats down the dim valley
Till each finds a word for a wing.
That to hearts, like the dove of the Deluge,
A message of peace they may bring.

But far on the deep there are billows
That never shall break on the beach;
And I have heard songs in the silence
That never shall float into speech;
And I have had dreams in the valley
Too lofty for language to reach.

And I have seen thoughts in the valley—
Ah, me, how my spirit was stirred!
And they wear holy veils on their faces;
Their footsteps can scarcely be heard;
They pass through the valley like virgins,
Too pure for the touch of a word.

Do you ask me the place of the valley,
Ye hearts that are hallowed by care?
It lies afar between mountains,
And God and his angels are there;
And one is the dark mount of sorrow,
And one the bright mountain of prayer.

JUDGE IS OVERRULED BY WIFE.
(Minneapolis Journal.)

Judge Kelly of the district court of Ramsey county, Minnesota, recently celebrated his golden wedding anniversary, and on the evening preceding he was tendered a banquet by the Ramsey County Bar association, which was also attended by the other members of the district bench, the justices of the supreme court, Governor Johnson and higher state officials.

In responding to the toastmaster's felicitations he stated that only once in his married life had his wife questioned one of his decisions and that was his recent decision in the "club" case, in which he held that social clubs might sell liquors to their members without a license. The judge related that, on arriving home, he found his wife reading the evening paper. She looked up and said:

"William, you are wrong about that club case."
"Now, perhaps that may not be so," said the judge. "Why do you think so?"
"Because," said Mrs. Kelly.

"And," added the judge, "on reading the opinion of the supreme court reversing me, I found they had Mrs. Kelly's reasoning."

A Tremendous Business on Saturday Will Be a Fitting Finale to a Glorious Week

¶ You have come. You know us and we know you. The acquaintance is a pleasure. And therefore we are sure your visit has been enjoyable. You have been ideal guests; you have adapted yourselves to conditions; been good natured; made yourselves right at home. Now that the visit is drawing to a close, you are beginning to think of home—of certain purchases to carry back to loved ones; souvenirs and other things which will call you to the stores. We have refrained from calling your attention to business this week. Now that but one day remains we take this means of inviting you to this interesting emporium. Not in the spirit of urging you to buy, though we shall be pleased to serve you; rather we want you to come in and see the big store; look around. Inspect the pneumatic tube system which carries cash to a given point; view the beautiful displays; note the rich, simple fixtures; take the elevators to the second floor; enjoy yourselves in the commodious rest room; go to the floor below. ¶ In the store you will find excellent service; a force of painstaking salespeople; indeed the hour will be enjoyably spent.

¶ On Saturday evening an enlarged orchestra will render an appropriate program.

¶ Come in and see how business is transacted in a great store.
